Risk-based security rating scheme:

A security assessment method for buildings, led by an independent assessor, which grades security performance against a defined standard at design, shell and core, and post-construction stages. Through certification the system shall recognise and reward:

- Adoption of industry best practice, tools and standards,
- A systematic and risk-based approach to security,
- An appropriate and proportionate response to security needs,
- Innovation in security risk assessment
- Engagement of competent persons for the process of identifying security needs, security planning and design, and the implementation of security controls.

The following program is currently recognised as a compliant risk-based security rating schemes:

- SABRE (<https://www.bregroup.com/sabre/>)

Providers of programs not listed, who feel their programs meet this definition and who would like to be listed should contact BRE Global.

Additional information

Security and the impact on equity in communities

The approach to security in buildings has traditionally been defensive in nature and focused on protecting the asset and the building users from external threats. Assets should consider how their approach to crime prevention and security may result in inequitable and exclusionary outcomes and solutions. Assets are encouraged to adopt policies and procedures that not only protect buildings users but contribute to the dignity, safety and security of all people and the wider neighbourhood.
